The Foundations of Aztec Thought

Philosophy and Cosmology

The Aztecs viewed the universe as a complex, layered cosmos governed by divine forces. Their cosmology was rooted in the belief that the universe was created and continually maintained through the actions of gods and mythic events. Central to their worldview was the concept of a cyclical universe, where creation and destruction were ongoing processes. This cyclical thinking influenced many aspects of their culture, from their religious rituals to their calendar systems.

The Aztec understanding of cosmology was also deeply interconnected with their concept of time, which was divided into various cycles. These cycles dictated not only religious events but also political and social activities. The Aztec calendar combined a 260-day ritual cycle called the Tonalpohualli and a 365-day solar cycle called the Xiuhpohualli, reflecting their view of time as a sacred, divine rhythm.

Religious Beliefs and Mythology

At the core of Aztec thought was a rich pantheon of gods and myths. They believed that human existence was intrinsically linked to divine forces, and maintaining harmony with these gods was essential for the continuation of life. Their gods represented natural elements, cosmic principles, and human virtues.

Some of the most important deities included:

- Huitzilopochtli: The god of the sun and war, central to Aztec identity and their legendary founding myth.
- Tlaloc: The rain god, vital for agriculture and fertility.
- Quetzalcoatl: The feathered serpent god associated with wisdom, wind, and learning.
- Tezcatlipoca: The god of destiny, night, and sorcery.

Mythological narratives explained the origins of the world, the gods' battles, and the human role in maintaining cosmic order. Rituals, sacrifices, and festivals were performed to appease these gods and ensure cosmic stability.

This social structure was justified by religious beliefs that emphasized divine right and duty. Nobility often held religious and military authority, serving as intermediaries between the gods and the people.

Political Organization and Warfare

The Aztec Empire was a conglomerate of city-states ruled by a supreme emperor, known as the Huey Tlatoani. The emperor wielded divine authority, supported by a council of nobles and military leaders. The Aztecs practiced an aggressive expansionist policy, often waging war to capture prisoners for sacrifice and to assert dominance over neighboring regions.

Warfare was deeply embedded in Aztec thought. It was seen not only as a means of territorial expansion but also as a religious duty.
